Toe Guards (1 Pair)

Save Your Toes - don't forget to tape them down with Duck Tape for added Protection. It is better to have a hole in one of these than a hole in the front of your skate!

Riedell ToeCaps

If you are serious about protecting your skates, look no further than our brand new toecap. Unlike single strap toe covers that sometimes slide from side to side, these toecaps have been designed to stay securely in place, protecting your boot under the most demanding use on any surface. Built from a rugged, one-piece construction and finished with actual eyelets that won't damage laces even when pulled very tight, our toecaps provided the very best protection for your skate boot.

FLAT OUTRAGEOUS

Very similar to Flat Out, but more narrow (37mm) and no Speed Groove.

Recommended For:	SportCourt, Smooth Concrete, and Wood Floors

Radar Shadow 62mm 80A Nova material with blue urethane hub

This “hybrid” wheel is perfect for smooth concrete or dirty tile surfaces when you must have grip. Because the hub is urethane, there are no debonding issues even with the softest material on the market. Shadow wheels roll faster than all others that claim the same grip.

Best for: Sealed concrete or dusty floors (slick/slippy surface)

Radar Zuca Travel Bag

Easy to Cart and Carry, for travelling skaters. Holds skates, pads & helmet if you can pack well - PLUS you can sit on it! Has a sturdy metal exoskeleton frame, pullman wheels and collapsible handle and separated pockets and mesh compartments.

Measures about 18" tall by 13" deep & 12" across.

Radar Equipment Bag

Take all of your gear with you in the Radar Equipment Bag. This bag offers plenty of room for a pair of size 14 skates as well as a separate compartment for the rest of your gear. The Radar Equipment Bag features wheels and a retractable handle for easy rolling and a duffle strap for versatility.

Specifications: 600 Denier nylon
26" x 14" x 11"

How to measure your head circumference?

When ordering helmets, we recommend you measure your head. Wrap a tape measure around your head just above the eyebrows. Insert your index finger inside the tape measure (allowing extra room for growth). Read the measurement in inches (") and compare with the size chart below.

If you are unable to measure your head, you can use your hat size as a reference.

PowerDyne Bearing Press/Puller

Installing or replacing your bearings is a cinch with the PowerDyne Bearing Press/Puller. Just follow the instructions below and you'll be back on the floor in no time!

To use the puller, start with the handle up and the long pin down (sideways). Then put the wheel on the outside, push the handle down and it pulls the bearing out. Repeat to pull out the other bearing.

To use the press, stand the pin up and put a bearing down on the pin. Next put the wheel with the outside of the wheel (usually the printed side) facing up and put another bearing on the pin. Tip the pin down (sideways) and carefully pull the handle down. You may have to guide the bearings a bit to get started. The aluminum hub wheels may be a bit trickier than the nylon hub or no hub wheels. Do not use excessive force. A very small amount of silicone oil around the outside of the bearing usually helps ease them into the aluminum hub wheels.

Every league should own one for skaters to use!!!!!!!!!!!!
